AMENDMENT UNDER 37 C.F.R. § 1.111

Sir:

Responsive to the Office Action dated April 22, 2002 (Paper No. 4), please amend the above-referenced application as follows.

spiral-type wound tension spring 8 abuts in a protected fashion on the brake housing 3 in an indentation 17 between the actuating devices 4. Consequently, the tension spring does not straddle the brake disc and is hence unaffected by the brake disc rotation. Similar to the design as a tension spring 8, a compression spring is also possible for the adjustment of a clearance.
